Morcomb Adobe House and Service Station Restoration Project. A historical corner in Glendale that houses one of the only remaining exposed adobe homes is getting a makeover. Downtown's Morcomb Adobe House and service station will be renovated to look like it once did in its earlier days, providing lasting evidence of Glendale's heritage and history.

The building, located at Grand and Myrtle avenues, is part of a renovation project funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Interior. The city has been restoring this area, known as the Myrtle Avenue Historic Entryway, since 2006. This most recent update involves exterior and interior restoration of both the service station and adobe house, including roof repair and Adobe protection.

Visitors and residents are welcome to visit the Myrtle Avenue Historic Entryway which has also become a popular stop on various historic preservation tours.

DUI Enforcement. In March, the Governor's Office of Highway Safety (GOHS) awarded the Glendale Police Department with a $40,000 grant for DUI enforcement. Year round, officers from the Glendale Police Department partner up with GOHS and other local agencies to put on DUI task forces.

A DUI is recognized as a violent crime. According to statistics from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) more than 11,000 people lost their lives in accidents in 2008 involving a drunk driver. This grant supplements proactive DUI enforcement such as multi-agency task forces allowing our department to provide more coverage of officers for a bigger impact on DUI violators; reducing the threat on our roadways.

The penalties for driving impaired are serious and include mandatory jail time, thousands of dollars in fees and court fines, driver license suspension and vehicle impoundment, but nothing is as serious as the loss of life. Have a designated driver or take a taxi and stay safe.

Glendale Selected for New Solar Manufacturing Facility. Linamar Solar Systems, a division of Linamar Corporation based in Canada, has selected Glendale for its new Power Conversion Unit (PCU) production facility. Linamar Solar signed a five-year lease for a 76,000-square-foot industrial building in Glendale's Airpark.

Linamar Solar Systems plans to hire 52 positions and expand to 75 employees by its third year of operation. The company will produce and assemble the PCUs for Stirling Energy Systems (SES) utility scale solar SunCatcher™ systems. Glendale estimates the economic impact to the city at $500,000 during the course of the lease. Glendale worked with the Greater Phoenix Economic Council (GPEC) to locate Linamar in the city.

Bella Villagio Rezoning Approved. A significant development project in the heart of Glendale's Sports and Entertainment District is moving forward after Tuesday's General Plan Amendment and rezoning approval by the Glendale City Council.

Bella Villagio, a 47-acre mixed use project located at 99th Ave. and Bethany Home Rd., offers future opportunities for new office, retail, dining and hotels.

The property recently came out of foreclosure with new owners prepared to develop the site plan and file for design review, which are the next steps in the process, prior to construction.

The land and its use was rezoned from agricultural to entertainment mixed use as part of the overall plan to continue enhancing and growing the city's sports and entertainment district. For more information about Glendale's Planning Department, click here.
